Harvard Team Wins On College Diamonds

Crimson Makes Best Showing of Larger Institutions. Gerhardt, of Army, Leads Individual Batters. Adams, Navy, Is Second.

Harvard without doubt had the best of the larger colleges this season The Crimson team won twenty-three games and lost five, although it was me of the lightest hitting aggregations that Cambridge has had in years. It remained for the Army to take the team batting honors, with an average of .518 for twenty-one games.

Tufts and Brown each produced team porthy of ranking close to Harvard, but seither played through so long a schedile por faced the opposition which Harvard had to wrestle with. Tufts, with seventeen games won out of nineteen played, has the best winning average rhile Brown, with eighteen victories and four defeats, might be rated just selow Harvard for a tie for fourth place with Syracuse.

Gerhardt, of the Army nine, led the individual batters, with an average of 407, but Adams, of the Navy, with 203; Babbington, of Brown, with .291, and Watt, of Columbia, with .395, were not far behind. Babbington was the leading stugger, with thirty-one hits and fifty-one total bases, which included two home huns, six triples and two doubles. Watt, of Columbia, and Stafford, of Tufts, were the leading run getters, with an average of 1.2 per game, while Gerhardt led the base stealers, with an average of 1.096 a game.

When Appetite Controls

Have you reached the point where, instead of controlling your appetite for liquor your appetite controls you; where will power is lacking, sensibili-ties deadened, and the future, like the present, holds out no other promise than the past has brought you? The Life Line is thrown out to you today by Kin-Po, Seventeenth and L streets northwest. Grasp it. It means safety, sobriety, physical and mental resur-rection. Call Main 3758 and satisfy yourself.

Most American followers of boxing have always had an idea that Georges Carpentier, heavyweight champion of Europe and greatest idol in the history of French sports, has every qualification of a boxing champion, with the exception of gameness.

This was particularly impressed on their minds when he quit to Bill Papke, former world's middleweight champion, in seventeen rounds in Paris a few

If Carpentier's life is spared, and the warring nations lay down their arms, he will probably become one of the most prominent figures in Europe, and it would be no surprise if the French government conferred some high official honors upon him—maybe some big job in the employ of the nation.

Carpentier is one of the most pie uresque figures in the history of sport. He took up boxing when it was in-augurated in France, and won championship after championship until he captured the heavyweight championship from Bombardier Wells. He has the honor of holding every ring title from honor of holding every ring title from flyweight to topweight class.

He won on a foul from Gunboat Smith in London early last summer and earned a fortune for this victory. The result caused all kinds of discussion, it being a guestion in the minds of the American public whether Smith quit or whether Georges was really hit low.

It would not be surprising to hear that when his country no longer needs him Carpentier will come to this country and challenge for a fight for the heavy-weight champion of the world.
